FORT GIBSON SCHOOLS

Fort Gibson Schools

Several years ago Fort Gibson Schools were located on three different campuses. The grade school was located on one campus, the junior high was on another campus, and the senior high was on yet another campus.

In 1971, classes were moved to a single campus of 40 acres. In Dub West's FORT GIBSON - GATEWAY TO THE WEST, he says, "The school resembles a miniature college campus. One of the strikingly attractive features of the school complex is the large football field. Within the school itself, facilities are well-planned, modern, and convenient."

During the 1977-78 school year, the sixth, seventh, and eighth grade classes were moved to the new Middle School building. During the 1980-81 school year, the Administration Building was built. After the addition of these two new buildings, the Grade School was expanded, as was the cafeteria. There has also been an addition of a baseball field and a new field house. A new facility, housing a gymnasium, an indoor swimming pool, and an indoor track, was built this year. The campus now consists of approximately 112 acres.

Hey Shane, what did you get on number four?

Look what I got Mom.

When we grow up, we want to be Porsche's.

Fort Gibson was the oldest and most celebrated military establishment in the annals of Oklahoma. In its early days it was the farthest west outpost of the United States, and in many respects continued for years to be one of the most important on that frontier. It was one of the chain of forts reaching from the northern to the southern boundries of the nation.

Over the years our little town of Fort Gibson has grown tremendously. New apartment buildings, multi-family and single housing developments erected from what was once flat land at the foothills of the Ozarks. The population growth is one of the things that led to our new school development.

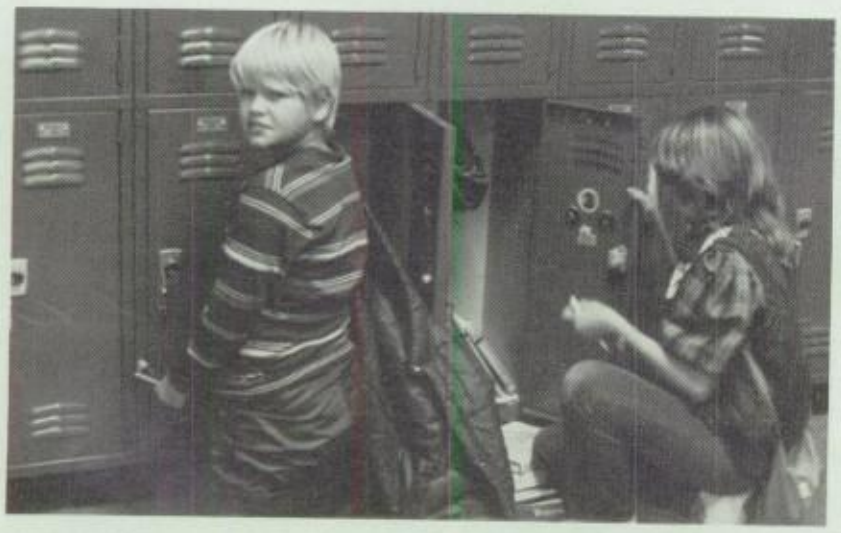
FTG CLASSES



FINE ARTS DEPARTMENT

The Fine Art Department at Fort Gibson includes Band, Art, Speech, Drama, and Stagecraft.

Mr. Macklin and Mr. Morris teach Band. Students may begin Band in the 5th grade and can continue through the 12th grade. In 5th grade students are taught the fundamentals of playing instruments and marching, as well as reading music. In 6th grade the Band sometimes marches with the 7th and 8th grade Band, but they also continue to learn fundamentals. The 7th and 8th grade Band plays at Middle School football games and marches during halftime. This Band also marches in many parades. The High School Band is made up of students in the 9th through the 12th grade. The Band plays at football games, marches at halftime, and marches in parades, as well as other contests. During basketball games there is a Pit Band. The Pit Band is made up of volunteer band students.

Mrs. Corley teaches Art I, Art II, and Art III. Art I can be taken by students in the 9th through 12th grade. These students do not need to have any experience in art and no requirements are necessary, except they need to be willing to work hard and learn. Once a student takes Art I, he can take Art II and then Art III. Any student who is in Art II or Art III can belong to the Art Club.

Mrs. Hamlin teaches Speech, Drama, and Stagecraft. Speech I can be taken by students in the 9th through 12th grade. In Speech I, students learn communication skills. After a semester of Speech I, a student can take Drama. In Drama, students perform skits and plays. Competitive Speech is also offered and may be taken by any student who tries out and/or is given permission by Mrs. Hamlin. Stagecraft may be taken by students in the 10th through the 12th grade. When taking Stagecraft it helps to have a little background in art or carpentry. In Stagecraft students make props for the plays the Drama Class presents.

LANGUAGE ARTS

Language Arts consists of all English classes and the Spanish classes. Some different kinds of English classes are Reading English, Clinical English and Practical English.

Reading English covers two nine-week periods. The purpose of this course is to master the skills essential to efficient reading. A wide variety of literature selections are covered wtih the emphasis of reading being stressed.

Clinical English is a course that involves grammar, literature, and writing. Grammar is taught as a review of basic skills. Literature is a sequential study of the history and works of literature dating from the Middle Ages through the Twentieth Century. Various writing is emphasized, but the main focus is on the research paper.

Practical English is a course that includes basic grammar review, various types of writing and literature. The literature for this course is a study of both English and World literature.

BUSINESS & JOURNALISM

Business classes are a main interest here at our school. There are a number of computers in the high school, middle school, and the grade school. All together there are approximately 95 computers in the school system.

In the high school, there are several different types of business courses offered. Some of these are typing, accounting, journalism-yearbook, journalism-newspaper, general business, business law. Typing II are using computers this year but next year it will be called word processing.

In the middle school, they offer activities with computers. This really helps the students understand more about different activities that you can do on a computer. They also have business activities involved in their regular classes.

The grade school just received their computers last year. They are still learning how to use them. The new computers are a great help in learning different areas of a new age in computers.

The journalism-yearbook class is basically the production of the school's yearbook. They work hard all year long on meeting deadlines and getting the yearbook finished before school is out for summer vacation. Students usually receive their yearbooks around the last week of school. The harder the yearbook students work, the faster the yearbook gets back to the other students. The advisor of the yearbook is Mrs. Townsend.

The journalism-newspaper class is a totally different class from the yearbook class. The newspaper class puts out a paper once a month, whereas the yearbook class works on one project all year long. The name of school newspaper is Paw Prints. Each month they write articles about ball games, big events that happened that month, plus they have special editions for holidays. The advisor of the newspaper is Mrs. Hamlin.

In the spring there are community education classes offered which include typing, computer programming, along with other business classes. This gives the adults of our town a chance to learn more about different areas of business.

As you can see, business is a very big part of our school system as well as our community.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Ft. Gibson High School provides students with an excellent Science Dept. Science is a basic study of energy. The two physical science fields covered are chemistry and physics. The student can obtain good background for higher level courses such as biology, chemistry and physics. For those students who choose not to take higher course offerings in physical science, it leaves them with a general working knowledge of important scientific principal.

Students gain an appreciation for lab safety procedures, the desire for organizing and using notes, related material, and understanding of basic scientific principles, and ability to research. Important science topics are needed for most people in the working life. It is very important for students to take some kind of science.

Other science studies are offered in high school, such as Biology I. Biolgoy I is an Introductory course which deals with the basic structures and functions of living organisms and how they interact with physical factors in their environment. Where as Biology II folllows in Molecular and Cellular Biology. Biolgoy II gives a background for the concepts of reproduction and genetics. Units dealing with microbiology, multicellular plants, invertibrate animal life. The vertibrate animals and human biology follow in logical sequence. The final unit deals with the relationship of organisms to their environment.

An understanding of each of these units allow the student to understand more fully the complex environmental programs we face today and to gain an appreciation of the intricacy of their body and the magnificient way it functions.

Students who are planning to go to college may even take courses such as chemistry, physics, and psychology. In chemistry, students are given the opportunity to learn how to think scientifically and solve problems through "hand-on" activities. Physics students develop the ability to handle, construct, and manipulate materials and equipment in a productive and safe manner. Students also learn to develop the ability to measure, organize, and communicate scientifically with information.

Psychology is a slightly different type of science it has to deal with thinking and behavior of oneself. By taking psychology courses students find out how to identify themselves by pointing out the strong and weak points in their body, and how to handle confusion and stress. Most of all they try to get themselves to become individuals.

MATH DEPARTMENT

1 Mathematics is used every day of our lives, therefore it is very important that students take advantage of all types of math classes offered in high school.

The math classes offered at Ft. Gibson are General Math, High School Arithmetic, Algebra I, Algebra II, Geometry, Trigonometry, Basic Computers, Computers I, and Advanced Computers.

The High School Arithmetic and General Math may seem the same to some people. The difference between General Math and High School Math is that General Math is a course in remedial instruction in the basic skills of mathematics. High School Arithmetic is a course of basic mathematical skills and problem solving in consumer and career applications.

At Ft. Gibson there are higher math courses offered such as Algebra I and Algebra II. This math is an abstract study of the way numbers behave and interrelate. Knowledge of the fundamentals of Algebra is the key that will unlock the doors of higher mathematics and the doors to Chemistry, Physics, Engineering, and other mathmatically based disciplines.

In addition to these courses, it will unlock the doors to the understanding of Psychology, Sociology, and other nonmathematical disciplines in which research depends heavily on mathematical statistics. Thus algebric ability is necessary in almost any field of endeavor there are also standards of math that even go higher than Algebra. These types of math are Trigonometry, and Geometry. They both are branches of Algebra in which they treat relations between the sides and angles of triangles, surfaces, and solids.

Students who are going into engineering, architecture, and Astronomy might consider taking these courses. These courses are also being used in flying methods and navigation.

HISTORY

Fort Gibson High School students are required to take one year of American History, one semester of Oklahoma History and one semester of world, in order to graduate.

American History I, studies the discovery of the New World through the colonial America and early United States, up to the Civil War.

American History II, covers from after the Civil War to the present, with emphasis on World Wars I and II.

Oklahoma History begins with Oklahoma's pre-history and goes up to the present, with emphasis on Oklahoma's Indian and Frontier Heritage.

World History class begins with the Ancient Rome, the Middle Ages in Western Europe and ends with the French Revolution and its' aftermath.

American Government is a college prep course, which is opened to juniors and seniors only.

Fort Gibson Middle School teaches American History, American Civics and U.S. History. The teachers for these courses are Mrs. Brawley and Mr. Corley.

ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT

The Athletic Department at Ft. Gibson consists of many different sports. The students can participate in football, basketball, wrestling, golf, softball, baseball, weightlifting, and track. As a result of hiring new coaches, the athletic program has excelled in each field, causing a sudden increase of interest. With the opening of our new facility this past winter, this allows indoor track and swimming program, that can be added. This facility gave the Tigers the most up-to-date basketball facility in the area.

Comments from the coaches about their area are: When you stop and think about the '85 Tiger football team one word that comes to Coach Jerry Kerr's mind is "team work". They all had one common goal, to become winners. And winners they were, finishing the season with seven wins and three losses plus a trip to the playoffs. This is just one example of what can be accomplished when young people believe in themselves and their teammates. Congratulations on a winning season!

Coach Ronnie Rogers feels this years girls basketball team was lacking a little bit on experince, but what they lacked in experience, they made up for in hustle and determintaion.

The '85-'86 boys basketball team received a new coach with a different philosophy. Coach Gary Hendrix and his team faced many challenges this year and are looking forward to next years as well.

The '85-'86 Tiger wrestling team set their minds to be the best wrestling team Ft. Gibson has ever had. Coach Greg Hinkle and his team had many goals, such as winning at Regionals and State Tournament and to break all kinds of school records.

Home Economics is a vast expanding area in our school. In the past couple of years there have been a growing number of boys taking Home Economics.

Students do a variety of different things. Some of the many things that they do are sewing, cooking, child care, and learning about family life.

There are different levels of Home Economics available. They are Home Ec. I, II, III, IV, and family planning. When you become a freshman in high school you can enroll in Home Economics.

Home Ec. I is a class where you learn the basics of sewing and cooking. In Home Ec. II, III, and IV, each year is a little review of the year before plus more difficult things.

When you enroll in Home Economics you have the opportunity of joining FHA. FHA is a group where you learn many different things about life and how it will be after you graduate.

The upper Home Economics classes prepare several dinners throughout the year for business people of the town and for our school administrators.

Home Economics is a fun class to be active in. You make better friends with your classmates.

The teacher of Home Economics is Mrs. Henderson, who is also the advisor of the Ft. Gibson chapter of FHA.

Do I look innocent or what?!

Hey mom, I think he's kind of cute!

"JOE COOL"

Momma, please don't make me go!

I don't think I like this.

Penny for your thoughts!

Look out world - I'm coming through!

I'm coming dad! I'm coming!

Mom, I can't get this bed made.

I got something in my ear.

Why me?

Say Cheese ... Better Cheddar.

I think she likes me.

I'm NOT taking a bath!

The Boz Cut

You better hurry or I'll shoot!

But mom, he's not my type.

Where do I go from here? Hollywood!

Am I great or what?

You're so funny!

Ha, Ha! You can't catch me.

2

Get me up or else!

3

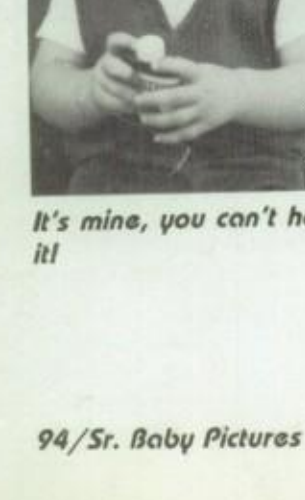
Too late Mom, I already said that you're home!

4

Hey Mom, she saw me!

5

Please let me take this hat off.



6

I can't hold this position much longer!

7

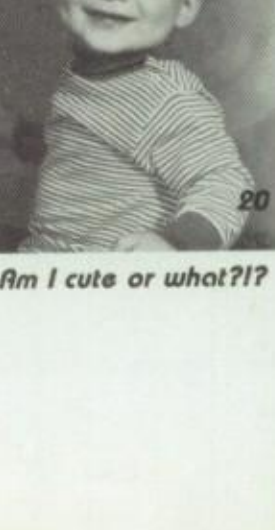
. . . but I'll get splinters!

8

Excuse me . . . but I think you've got my chair!

9

Please don't leave me here like this!

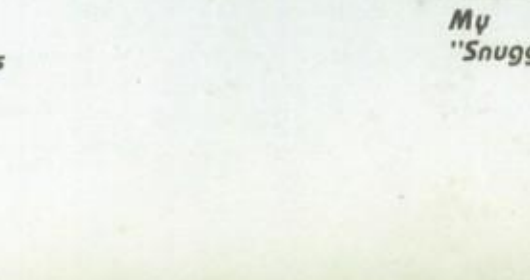


14

Mom look, I got another rose from my secret admirer!

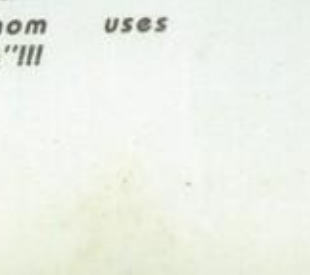
11

Oh, how I wish he'd look my way!



12

Down for the count!



13

Don't surprise me like that!

10

When I look at you, I can't help but laugh!

15

Who, me?!?

16

When I grow up I want to be a weight lifter!

17

I'm waiting with open arms!

18

It's mine, you can't have it!

Ride 'em cowboy!

Mom, put the camera away and get me off!!!

Nope, I didn't do it!

Hey Mom, when can I go to the moon?

Mom, I think I need to go to the bathroom!

Imitating Popeye again?!?

Better watch out or I'll run over you!!

Oh no! My hairdresser won't answer her phone!!!

Rub-a-dub-dink, just a sittin' in the sink!!

I wuv my wabbit!

UH-OH!!!

I'm eating what??

Howdy partner!

This is a stick-up!

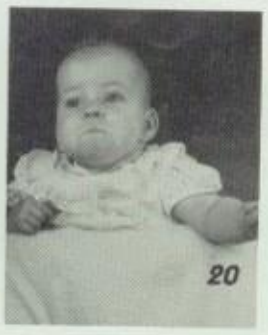
Caught in the act!

Where's my rubber ducky?

I think I'm in love!

Star light, star bright . . .

I told you she was looking at me!!



You make me sick!!!

I, Sheli Yaffe, will to Shawn my Dodge Daytona hot rod.

I, Connie Young, will my 40 inch long legs to any underclassman who is in need of height.

I, Melissa Warlick, being of sound mind and body will my neon orange car to Lacretia Cox so she can drive in style and not in the family four-door car.

CLASS PROPHECY

May 29, 1996

Dear Mrs. Arnett,

When I took my small family of four to Six Flags for our vacation, I ran into Tammy Ford and her seven children. So I decided to write and tell you whether or not the class of '86 dreams came true.

Pat Harmon, Vince Anderson, Danny Dominguez, and Jody Powell have their own band, "The Harmon Boys", and tour the countryside as a traveling road show. Kenny Wineberger is now a half-back for the Dallas Cowboys.

Michelle Prophet owns a Wedding Service in downtown FTG on Poplar Street. She said Kelli Green and James Cooper design and make all her wedding gowns. Monte Wapaha has a leading role on All My Children and Candy Reavis plays the part of his wife. Joe Crossland owns the largest Braums stores in Oklahoma, and his managers are Eric Qualls, Kevin Adams, and Madison Cauthon. Margaret Bart is Big Joe's chauffeur; she hauls him around in his convertible limousine designed by Jason Owens and Mike Brown.

Sheli Yaffe is an orthodontist and lives in Hawaii. You can see Connie Young, Crystal Sheppard and Leslie Pitchford on the cover of Tall Girls Magazine owned and operated by Lisa Bailey. Mark Stevens, Steve Whitworth, Shawn Smith, and Mike Crossland are members of the U.S. Drum and Bugle Corp. John Hammer is a disc jockey for WKRP in Cinncinati; he makes up excuses for people. Lisa Tolbert is the head basketball coach at Hulbert. Matt Lowery is the World's Tallest Man; he is 9'11" tall.

Chris Lewellen has finally been promoted to president of all Safeway stores. If you drop by Fort Gibson High School, you will find David Lyons; he is the head football coach, and Shelly Harris teaches Senior English. Belinda Tharp and Linda Isbell own a franchise of hot dog stands. Chris Burt is a comedian, and his show took over the Johnny Carson Show.

Traci Huggins and Tina Meeks are making big bucks in their new dating service. Lynette Monks is a world famous brain surgeon and our class is proud of Jenny Boling; she is the first woman President. LaVon Wilkie is trying to invent a cure for mono. If you're wondering about David Howe, he is living dangeroulsy. He is a panther trainer and works for circuses all over the world. In the high trapeze act you can find Angela Long, Chris Copeland and James Galloway doing a super job. You can also see Mark Taylor at the circus; he is a clown.

Cheryl Burgess and Evelyn Burroughs are psychiatrists and Fort Gibson students keep them busy. Donnie Ballew is a door to door neck-tie salesman. Shari Kestas and Marci Moydell got sent up 10 years for vandalizing school property. Allen Lytal and Jared Lewis are managers for the Pittsburg Steelers. Carol Hill is a Mary Kay Cosmetic consultant. Michelle Schultz has part ownership in Furrs, her favorite restaurant. Melissa Warlick and Betsy Easley are back in the snack shack at the Country Club. Riitta Vaajamo and Audrey deBoar are writing a dictionary of their own version of the English language. Teri Van Winkle, Tammy Sheridan, Nikki Minnick and Alma McIntosh are all happily married, and they meet and play bridge every Thursday night. Chris Cox and Sean Gann are Fort Gibson Police Officers and are always hot on Roy Hahn's trail for speeding. Wally Urban is the star of the remake of the movie, Urban Cowboy. Donna Gregg is married to Lonny Brinker, and she had Fort Gibson's first sextuplets.

Tim Martin owns a ranch at Fort Gibson and provides livestock for the Fort Gibson Rodeo organized by Bo Dunlap, Doug Ragsdale, and Johnny Bradley. Angela Copeland writes commercials for LUVS diapers. Jimmy Hunt is a motorcycle stuntman. Sherri Heavener is a photographer at Ruth Kelly's Studio. Barry Settlemyre is a mad scientist, and is always sending Shannon Elledge and Delbert Murphy out to collect supplies for his laboratory.

Tina Birth has just made her first gold record in gospel music. Mark Mitchell is still deciding what college he wants to attend. Sweet ole Kerry Bargas and Kelly Gilliam opened a candy store in Fort Gibson. Sean Hornback finally got fat; he made a lot of visits to the candy store. Anita Sawyer is nail manicurist in Melissa Hickox's beauty salon. Kim Ford is a mat-maid for Kevin Von Erick. Chris Branscum recently struck it rich in the oil business. Brady Horton is a model for Wrangler jeans. Keith Hunt is a third baseman for the New York Mets.

Crissie Crossland spent so much time in the bathroom during high school that she decided to become a bathroom interior decorator for famous people. One of her clients is the famous singer, Evon Nero, whose backup singer is Dee Dee Mayfield. Mike Wright and Mark McDaniel have opened a missing persons bureau called MM&M, and they are looking for their former classmates Joseph Landers and David Pittman who haven't been seen since graduation. Berry Bargas and Gary Cook own Oklahoma's largest hay hauling business, and they now have a fleet of 38 hay trucks and give summer jobs to Fort Gibson students.

Sincerely,
Kelly Crittenden
